

Anderson Twp. business celebrates relocation

SDH Flow Controls, located at 6700 Clough Pike in Anderson Township, recently conducted a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the completion of its new location.

SDH Flow Controls, owned by Steve and Carla Hendricks of Anderson Township, is a manufacturer's representative organization focusing on the sale, specification and distribution of valves, automation and flow control devices in a multi-state area.

Hendricks said that he and his wife had been looking for a larger facility for some time, and were thrilled to relocate their business to the building that had been known as the Ringler Rental Building for more than 20 years.

"The location is perfect for us," said Hendricks. "We are able to stay local and are very proud to become part of the growing Anderson business community. We have also been able to make, what we hope will be seen as, positive contributions to the local Clough Historical Business District."

Hendricks says they have recently completed considerable building modifications and repairs.

Hendricks has been involved with valves and automation for more than 30 years.

He started in valves with Hammond Valve Corp. of Hammond, Ind.,
